Student Counselling Committee

Young adults nowadays are faced with a number of issues related to academics and otherwise during their student life. They are in need of an outlet to express their emotional upheavals. This is where a student counsellor comes into picture. We have a regular counsellor. The most common issues faced by students are related to time management, stress management, peer pressure, procrastination, body language, communication skills etc. One-to-one counselling sessions with the student counsellor helps our students to sort out these issues and unburden themselves of their problems.

By making the sessions light and interactive, the student counsellor creates a conducive environment for the students to facilitate effective communication. Counselling helps the students concentrate better on their studies without getting emotionally drained by other issues.
